English Bridge: From A2 to B1

A Complete English Coursebook for Intermediate Learners

Preface

Welcome to English Bridge: From A2 to B1. This book is designed for learners who know some English but want to improve. If you can understand simple conversations, talk about your daily life, and read short texts — but you still find it difficult to express your ideas clearly — this book is for you.

This coursebook follows the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR). It takes you step by step from A2 (basic) to B1 (intermediate). Each unit builds on the previous one, so your English grows naturally.

How to Use This Book

Each unit has 10 sections:

[object Object]undefined

Tips for Learning

1. Study regularly. Try to study for 20-30 minutes every day.
 2. Review old units. Go back to previous units to remember vocabulary and grammar.
 3. Speak out loud. Reading is not enough. Say the words and sentences aloud.
 4. Write full answers. When you answer questions, write complete sentences.
 5. Use a notebook. Write new words, grammar rules, and your own examples.

Welcome to English Bridge!

This coursebook is for learners at CEFR A2 level who want to reach B1. You will practice reading, writing, listening, speaking, grammar, vocabulary, and pronunciation. Each unit has a clear topic and practical goals. Let's start!

UNIT 1 — Daily Life & Routines

Learning Objectives

- By the end of this unit, you will be able to:
- I can talk about my daily routines and habits.
 - I can describe what is happening right now.
 - I can use time expressions correctly.
 - I can pronounce the third person -s ending correctly.

Vocabulary

[object Object]undefined

Grammar

Present Simple vs Present Continuous

- Present Simple is for:
- Habits and routines: I drink coffee every morning.
 - General truths: The sun rises in the east.
 - Permanent situations: She works in a hospital.
- Present Continuous is for:
- Actions happening now: I am drinking coffee right now.
 - Temporary situations: He is staying with his parents this month.
 - Plans for the near future: We are meeting friends tonight.

[object Object]undefined

Stative Verbs

Some verbs describe a state, not an action. We do NOT usually use them in continuous forms.
Common stative verbs: know, like, love, hate, want, need, believe, understand

- Correct: I want a new phone.
- Incorrect: I am wanting a new phone.
- Correct: She likes chocolate.
- Incorrect: She is liking chocolate.

Common Mistakes

- ✗ I am going to the gym every day.
- ✓ I go to the gym every day. (habit → present simple)
- ✗ He is knowing the answer.
- ✓ He knows the answer. (stative verb → present simple)
- ✗ She works at the moment.
- ✓ She is working at the moment. (now → present continuous)

A Day in My Life

Maria's Blog
Posted: Monday, 15 March

Hi everyone! My name is Maria, and I am a student from São Paulo, Brazil. Welcome to my blog!
I usually wake up at 6:30 am, but today I am writing this post at 7 am because I have a busy week. First, I take a shower and get dressed. I always have breakfast with my family — bread with cheese and a cup of strong coffee. Then I leave for university.
I usually catch the bus, but this week I am taking the train because the bus drivers are on strike. The train is more crowded, but it is faster. My classes start at 9 am and finish at 1 pm. Nowadays, I am studying a lot because my final exams are next month.
In the afternoon, I work at a small café. I usually work from 2 pm to 6 pm. After work, I meet my friends or go home and relax. At the moment, I am reading a very good book called "The Alchemist."
In the evening, I have dinner with my family and then I do my homework. I go to bed at around 11 pm. What about you? What does your daily routine look like?

Comprehension

- A. Choose the correct answer.
1. What does Maria usually drink for breakfast?
 - a) Tea
 - b) Coffee
 - c) Juice
 2. Why is Maria taking the train this week?
 - a) The train is faster.
 - b) The bus drivers are on strike.
 - c) She likes trains more.
- B. True or false?
1. Maria's classes finish at 1 pm. ____
 2. Maria works at a restaurant in the afternoon. ____
- C. Answer the questions.
1. What time does Maria wake up on a normal day?
 2. What is Maria reading at the moment?

Listening

Audio Script: "What Are You Doing This Week?"

- Anna: Hey, Leo! How are things?
Leo: Hi, Anna! I'm good. Busy as usual. What about you?
Anna: Same here! I usually work from 9 to 5, but this week I'm working on a special project, so I'm staying late every day.
Leo: Oh, that sounds stressful. I normally go to the gym after work, but this week I'm skipping it. I'm helping my brother move to his new apartment.
Anna: That's nice of you! Is he moving far?

Leo: No, just across town. So we are carrying boxes every evening this week. What about your evenings?

Anna: Well, I usually cook dinner and watch TV, but this week I'm ordering takeout every night. I'm too tired to cook!

Leo: I understand. Hey, are you free on Saturday?

Anna: Yes, I am! My project finishes on Friday.

Leo: Great! Let's go out for dinner.

Listening Questions

A. True or false?

1. Anna usually works from 9 to 5. ____
2. Leo is going to the gym this week. ____

B. Answer the questions.

1. Why is Anna staying late at work this week?
2. What is Leo doing every evening this week?
3. What is Anna eating this week instead of cooking?

Speaking

Activity 1: Pair Interview

Work with a partner. Take turns asking and answering these questions:

- What time do you usually wake up?
- What do you usually have for breakfast?
- Do you commute to work or study? How?
- What do you do in the evening?
- What are you doing differently this week?

Activity 2: Find the Difference

Student A: You have a very busy life. You work full-time, study at night, and exercise every morning. Describe your typical day.

Student B: You have a very relaxing life. You work part-time, sleep late, and spend time with friends. Describe your typical day.

Talk together and find three differences between your routines.

Activity 3: Now vs Usually

Walk around the class. Ask three classmates: "What are you doing right now?" and "What do you usually do at this time?" Share your findings with the class.

Writing

Task 1: My Daily Routine

Write a paragraph (80–120 words) about your daily routine. Use present simple and time expressions like every day, usually, always, sometimes, in the morning/afternoon/evening.

Paragraph structure:

1. First sentence: Introduce yourself and your routine in general.
2. Next 3-4 sentences: Describe your morning routine.
3. Next 2-3 sentences: Describe your afternoon.
4. Last 1-2 sentences: Describe your evening and bedtime.

Task 2: This Week Is Different

Write another paragraph (50–80 words) about what is different this week. Use present continuous. For example: Usually I wake up at 7 am, but this week I am waking up at 6 am because...

Writing Tip

Use time expressions to make your writing clearer. Put them at the beginning or end of sentences:

- In the morning, I drink coffee.
- I go to the gym twice a week.
- At the moment, I am learning English.

Pronunciation

Third Person -s: /s/, /z/, /ɪz/

The letter -s at the end of verbs in present simple (he/she/it) has three different sounds.

[object Object]undefined

Practice: Say these words aloud with the correct sound.

- /s/: wakes, eats, likes, drinks, takes
- /z/: lives, does, goes, knows, buys
- /ɪz/: teaches, washes, fixes, relaxes, catches

Tip: Put your hand on your throat. For /z/ you feel a vibration. For /s/ you do not.

Review

Vocabulary Review

Fill in the blanks with the correct word from the box.

| wake up | get dressed | commute | relax | nowadays | at the moment |

1. I usually ____ at 6 am, but on weekends I sleep until 9.
2. She ____ by bus every day. It takes 40 minutes.
3. After work, I like to ____ and watch a movie.
4. ____, many people work from home.
5. He is not here _____. He is at the supermarket.
6. I ____ quickly — I wear simple clothes.

Grammar Review

Choose the correct verb form.

1. She (is drinking / drinks) coffee every morning.
2. They (are playing / play) football right now.
3. I (am not knowing / don't know) the answer.
4. He usually (is catching / catches) the 8 am bus.
5. We (are staying / stay) at a hotel this week.
6. She (is wanting / wants) a new job.

UNIT 2 — Travel & Adventures

Learning Objectives

By the end of this unit, you will be able to:

- I can talk about past events using past simple.
- I can describe actions in progress in the past.
- I can tell a story about a trip or holiday.
- I can pronounce the past simple -ed ending correctly.

Vocabulary

[object Object]undefined

Past Time Expressions

[object Object]undefined

Grammar

Past Simple vs Past Continuous

Past Simple is for:

- Completed actions in the past: I visited Paris last year.
- A sequence of events: She woke up, had breakfast, and left.
- Past states: He lived in New York for five years.

Past Continuous is for:

- Actions in progress at a specific past time: At 8 pm, I was watching a movie.
- Interrupted actions (with when): I was sleeping when the phone rang.
- Background description in stories: The sun was shining, and the birds were singing.

[object Object]undefined

When + Past Simple interrupts the Past Continuous action:

- I was taking a shower when the doorbell rang.
- They were driving home when it started to rain.

Common Mistakes

- ✗ I was going to the beach yesterday.
- ✓ I went to the beach yesterday. (completed action → past simple)
- ✗ When I was arriving, the taxi was waiting.
- ✓ When I arrived, the taxi was waiting. (arrival = completed action)
- ✗ While he cooked dinner, I was reading.
- ✓ While he was cooking dinner, I was reading. (two simultaneous ongoing actions)
- ✗ She enjoyed the trip while she was in Italy.
- ✓ She enjoyed the trip while she was in Italy. (both can work, but with enjoy as a state, past simple is more natural)

My Trip to Japan

Travel Adventures Blog

Published: 10 June 2024

Last spring, I finally visited Japan, and it was the most amazing trip of my life! I had dreamed about going there for years, and it was even better than I imagined.

I flew from London to Tokyo. The flight took about 12 hours, but I was so excited that I couldn't sleep. While I was flying over Russia, I watched two movies and read half a book. I arrived at Narita Airport at 9 am local time. After I went through security and collected my luggage, I took a train to the city center.

During my first week, I stayed in a small hotel in Shinjuku. Every morning, I woke up early and went sightseeing. I visited temples, tried authentic ramen, and walked through the busy streets. While I was exploring the city, I met a local student named Yuki. She showed me some amazing places that tourists usually don't find.

In my second week, I traveled to Kyoto. I was traveling by bullet train when I saw Mount Fuji through the window. It was breathtaking! In Kyoto, I visited beautiful gardens and old temples. I also bought many souvenirs for my family.

The trip changed me. I learned so much about Japanese culture, and I made a new friend. I am already planning my next visit!

Comprehension

A. Choose the correct answer.

1. How long was the flight from London to Tokyo?
 - a) 10 hours
 - b) 12 hours
 - c) 14 hours
2. Who did the writer meet while exploring Tokyo?
 - a) A tourist from London
 - b) A local student named Yuki
 - c) A hotel worker

B. True or false?

1. The writer slept during the flight. ____
2. The writer stayed in Kyoto for two weeks. ____
3. The writer saw Mount Fuji from the bullet train. ____

C. Answer the questions.

1. What did the writer do during the first week in Japan? Mention two activities.
2. Why does the writer say the trip "changed" them?

Listening

Audio Script: At the Airport Check-In

Staff: Good afternoon. Where are you flying today?
Passenger: Hi. I'm flying to Bangkok.
Staff: May I see your passport, please?

Passenger: Sure. Here you go.
Staff: Thank you. Do you have any luggage to check in?
Passenger: Yes, I have one suitcase.
Staff: Please put it on the scale. ... It's 22 kilos. That's fine. And do you have any carry-on bags?
Passenger: Just my backpack.
Staff: Great. Would you like a window seat or an aisle seat?
Passenger: A window seat, please.
Staff: Let me check... Yes, there is one available. Here is your boarding pass. Your gate is G12, and boarding starts at 2:30 pm.
Passenger: Thank you! What time is the departure?
Staff: The departure is at 3:15 pm. Please be at the gate at least 30 minutes before.
Passenger: Got it. Thanks for your help!
Staff: You're welcome. Have a great flight!

Listening Questions

- A. True or false?
1. The passenger is flying to Tokyo. ____
 2. The passenger's suitcase is 22 kilos. ____
- B. Answer the questions.
1. Did the passenger get a window seat or an aisle seat?
 2. What time is the departure?
 3. What time does boarding start?
- C. Complete the sentence.
1. The passenger should be at the gate at least ____ minutes before the departure.

Speaking

Activity 1: Tell Your Travel Story

Think about a trip you took. Answer these questions and tell your partner.

- Where did you go?
- When did you go?
- Who did you go with?
- How did you get there?
- What did you do there?
- What happened while you were traveling?
- What was the best part?

Activity 2: Role Play — At a Travel Agency

Student A (Travel Agent): Greet the customer. Ask where they want to go, when they want to travel, and what kind of accommodation they prefer. Offer suggestions.
Student B (Customer): You want to book a holiday. Tell the agent where you want to go, your budget, and what activities you like. Ask questions about flights, hotels, and prices.
Swap roles and practice again.

Activity 3: Past Continuous Game — "What Were You Doing...?"

Work in pairs. Take turns asking "What were you doing..." questions with a past time.

- What were you doing yesterday at 3 pm?
- What were you doing last Saturday at 10 pm?
- What were you doing when the last World Cup final started?

Answer with past continuous. Your partner must ask a follow-up question with past simple and when.

- A: What were you doing yesterday at 3 pm?
- B: I was working at my desk.
- A: What happened when you were working?
- B: My boss called me for a meeting.

Writing

Task 1: Email to a Friend

Write an email (100-140 words) to a friend about a trip you took. Use past simple and past continuous. Include:

- Where you went and when
- How you traveled
- What you did (2-3 activities)
- Something interesting that happened while you were doing something
- Your feelings about the trip

Structure:

Subject: My trip to [place]!

Hi [friend's name],

I hope you are doing well. I wanted to tell you about my trip to...

Anyway, I have to go now. Write back soon!

Best wishes,

[Your name]

Writing Tip

Use time words to organize your story in a clear order:

- First / First of all — to start
- Then / After that — to continue
- While / During — for background actions
- Suddenly — for something unexpected
- Finally / In the end — to finish

Task 2: A Bad Travel Experience

Write a short paragraph (60–80 words) about something that went wrong during a trip. Use past continuous for the background and past simple for the main events.

Example start: I was waiting for my flight when I realized my passport was in my other bag...

Pronunciation

Past Simple -ed: /t/, /d/, /ɪd/

Regular past simple verbs end in -ed, but the pronunciation has three different sounds.

Practice: Say these sentences aloud with the correct -ed sound.

- 1. I walked (/t/) to the park yesterday.
- 2. She called (/d/) me last night.
- 3. We visited (/ɪd/) the museum.
- 4. He stopped (/t/) at the traffic light.
- 5. They stayed (/d/) at a nice hotel.
- 6. I needed (/ɪd/) a new passport.

Tip: The -ed ending NEVER sounds like /ɛd/ (like the word "ed"). It's /t/, /d/, or /ɪd/.

Review

Vocabulary Review

Match the word on the left with the correct definition on the right.

Grammar Review

Complete the sentences with the correct form: past simple or past continuous.

- 1. I ____ (walk) home when it ____ (start) to rain.
- 2. She ____ (cook) dinner while her husband ____ (set) the table.
- 3. At 8 pm yesterday, we ____ (watch) a movie.
- 4. He ____ (travel) to France last summer.
- 5. They ____ (drive) to the airport when they ____ (realize) they forgot their passports.
- 6. While I ____ (try) to sleep, my neighbor ____ (play) loud music.

UNIT 3 — Life Experiences

Learning Objectives

- By the end of this unit, you will be able to:
- I can talk about my life experiences using present perfect.
 - I can use ever and never in questions and statements.
 - I can understand the difference between been and gone.
 - I can choose between present perfect and past simple.

Vocabulary

[object Object]undefined

Time Expressions with Present Perfect

[object Object]undefined

Grammar

Present Perfect for Life Experiences

We use the present perfect to talk about experiences in our life. We do not say exactly when they happened.

Form: have / has + past participle

- I have visited Thailand.
- She has eaten insects.
- They have never flown in a helicopter.

Questions: Have / Has + subject + past participle

- Have you ever tried Mexican food?
- Has he ever been to Australia?

Short answers:

- Yes, I have. / No, I haven't.
- Yes, he has. / No, he hasn't.

Been vs Gone

[object Object]undefined

Present Perfect vs Past Simple

[object Object]undefined

Common Mistakes

- ✗ I have visited Paris last year.
- ✓ I visited Paris last year. (specific time → past simple)
- ✗ She has gone to Japan twice.
- ✓ She has been to Japan twice. (returned, so use been)
- ✗ He has never been to a concert when he was young.
- ✓ He never went to a concert when he was young. (finished time period → past simple)
- ✗ I have saw that movie.
- ✓ I have seen that movie. (past participle, not past simple)

Amazing Life Stories

Three People with Interesting Experiences

Ana — 34, Mexico City

Ana has always loved adventure. She has traveled to over 30 countries, and she has tried some incredible things. She has climbed Kilimanjaro, she has swum with dolphins in New Zealand, and she has eaten fried crickets in Thailand. "I have never felt more alive than when I am exploring a new place," she says. Ana has also written two books about her travels. "I want to inspire other people to see the world."

Professor Kim — 58, Seoul

Professor Kim has had a fascinating career. He has taught at five different universities in three different countries. He has given over 200 speeches at international conferences, and he has published ten academic books. But his proudest moment? "I have mentored over 50 students who became professors themselves. That is my real achievement." Professor Kim has also learned to play the violin — he started lessons two years ago.

Elena — 22, Barcelona

Elena is young, but she has already done amazing things. She has won three national swimming competitions, and she has represented Spain in the European Championships twice. "I have competed against the best swimmers in Europe. I have never won a medal at that level, but I have improved my time every year." Outside of swimming, Elena has learned to speak English and French. She has also started a YouTube channel about sports and healthy living. "I have never been afraid of hard work," she says.

Comprehension

A. Choose the correct answer.

1. How many countries has Ana traveled to?
 - a) More than 20
 - b) More than 30
 - c) More than 40
2. What has Professor Kim published?
 - a) Five academic books
 - b) Ten academic books
 - c) Fifty academic books
3. Has Elena won a medal at the European Championships?
 - a) Yes, she has.
 - b) No, she hasn't.
 - c) The article doesn't say.

B. True or false?

1. Ana has climbed Kilimanjaro. ____
2. Professor Kim has taught at four different universities. ____

C. Answer the questions.

- 1. What does Professor Kim say is his "real achievement"?
- 2. How many languages has Elena learned besides Spanish?
- 3. Which person inspires you the most? Why?

Listening

Audio Script: Have You Ever...?

Mark: OK, let's play a game. I ask "Have you ever..." questions, and you answer!

Sophie: Sounds fun! Go ahead.

Mark: Have you ever eaten something really strange?

Sophie: Hmm, yes, I have! I have tried fried grasshoppers in Mexico. They were crunchy!

Mark: Wow, that is strange! I have never tried anything like that. OK, next question. Have you ever met a celebrity?

Sophie: No, I haven't. But I have seen a famous actor at a restaurant once. I was too shy to say hello. What about you?

Mark: I have met a famous football player! I shook hands with Neymar after a match.

Sophie: That's amazing! My turn. Have you ever ridden a horse?

Mark: Yes, I have. I rode a horse on holiday in Argentina. Actually, I fell off!

Sophie: Oh no! Were you hurt?

Mark: No, just my pride. Have you ever given a speech in front of many people?

Sophie: Yes, I have. I gave a speech at my sister's wedding last year. I was so nervous!

Mark: Did people like it?

Sophie: Yes, they did. Everyone clapped! It was a great feeling.

Listening Questions

A. True or false?

- 1. Sophie has tried fried grasshoppers. ____
- 2. Mark has met a famous actor. ____

B. Answer the questions.

- 1. Has Sophie ever met a celebrity? What did she do?
- 2. Who did Mark meet? Where?
- 3. What happened when Mark rode a horse?
- 4. When did Sophie give a speech?

Speaking

Activity 1: Class Survey — Find Someone Who...

Walk around the class and ask "Have you ever...?" questions. Find a person for each item. Write their name.

Example question: Have you ever traveled to another country?

Activity 2: Pair Discussion — Experience Stories

Work with a partner. Choose two questions and tell your story. Your partner asks for more details.

- 1. Have you ever tried a food that you didn't like? What was it?
- 2. Have you ever gotten lost in a new place? What happened?
- 3. Have you ever done something adventurous (like climbing, diving, or skiing)?
- 4. Have you ever met someone from a different culture? What did you learn?
- 5. Have you ever forgotten something important? What happened?

Activity 3: Spot the Difference

Student A: You have lived in three different countries. You have tried scuba diving. You have never broken a bone. You have met the president of your country.

Student B: You have lived in two different countries. You have never tried scuba diving. You have broken your arm twice. You have never met the president.

Ask each other questions in present perfect. Find all the differences.

Writing

Task 1: Biography of a Family Member

Write a short biography (100–140 words) of a family member or a friend. Use present perfect for their experiences and achievements. Also use past simple for specific events with times.

Include:

- Their name, age, and where they are from
- Their job or studies
- Things they have done in their life (travel, achievements, skills)
- One or two specific past events (with past simple)

Model start:

My aunt Maria is 45 years old and she lives in Rio de Janeiro. She has had a very interesting life. She has worked as a journalist for 20 years and has traveled to more than 15 countries...

Task 2: Biography of a Famous Person

Write a short biography (100–140 words) of a famous person you admire. Use present perfect and past simple.

Include:

- Who they are (name, job, nationality)
- What they have achieved in their life (present perfect)
- Specific events from their past (past simple with dates or time expressions)

Writing Tip

Remember the difference:

- Present perfect — no specific time, for life experiences and achievements
- Past simple — with specific times (in 2010, last year, when she was 20)

Signal words for present perfect: ever, never, always, already, yet, in her life

Signal words for past simple: yesterday, last year, ago, in 2015, when

Pronunciation

Sentence Stress in Present Perfect Questions

In English questions, we stress (say more strongly) the important words. Content words (verbs, nouns, adjectives) are usually stressed. Function words (have, has, he, she, etc.) are usually weak.

Pattern: Have/Has (weak) + subject (weak) + past participle (strong) + ...?

- Have you ever been to Spain?
- Has she tried sushi?
- Have they climbed a mountain?
- Has he met anyone famous?

Practice: Read these questions aloud. Stress the bold words.

1. Have you ever eaten Thai food?
2. Has she ridden a horse?
3. Have you given a speech?
4. Has he written a poem?
5. Have they visited Europe?
6. Has your brother ever won a prize?

Extension: In short answers, the auxiliary have/has IS stressed.

- Yes, I have.
- No, she hasn't.

Healthy Eating Around the World

Food & Lifestyle Magazine

Different cultures, different plates — but which meals are the healthiest?

When people talk about healthy food, they often think of salads and steamed vegetables. But healthy eating looks different in every country. Here are three traditional meals that nutritionists love.

Japan: A Traditional Breakfast

A typical Japanese breakfast includes grilled fish, miso soup, rice, and pickled vegetables. "It's a perfect balance of protein, carbohydrates, and vitamins," says Dr. Suzuki, a nutritionist in Tokyo. "There isn't much sugar or fat. People who eat this breakfast have a lot of energy for the day." A Japanese breakfast uses a few simple ingredients but provides a lot of nutrition.

Greece: The Mediterranean Plate

In Greece, a traditional lunch might include grilled fish or chicken, a large salad with tomatoes and cucumbers, olives, and bread with olive oil. "Olive oil is very healthy," explains Maria, a Greek chef. "It has a lot of good fats." There are many vegetables and not much processed food. How much olive oil do Greeks use? A lot — but it is good for the heart!

Mexico: Bean and Vegetable Stew

In Mexico, many families eat a bean and vegetable stew called "frijoles de olla." It contains beans, tomatoes, onions, chili peppers, and herbs. "There are a lot of vitamins and fiber," says nutritionist Carlos Ruiz. "There isn't any processed meat, and there is only a little oil." This dish is cheap, filling, and very healthy.

Listening

Audio Script: At a Restaurant

Waiter: Good evening. Welcome to Bella Italia. Here are your menus.

Sofia: Thank you!

Waiter: Can I get you something to drink first?

Sofia: Yes, please. I'd like a glass of red wine.

Paulo: And I'll have a bottle of sparkling water, please.

Waiter: Of course. Are you ready to order, or do you need a few more minutes?

Sofia: We need a little more time, actually.

Waiter: No problem. I'll come back in a few minutes.

(A few minutes later)

Waiter: Are you ready to order now?

Paulo: Yes, I think so. For starters, we'd like the bruschetta to share.

Waiter: Good choice. And for the main course?

Sofia: I'll have the spaghetti carbonara, please.

Paulo: And I'd like the grilled salmon with vegetables.

Waiter: Would you like any side dishes?

Sofia: Yes, a side salad, please.

Paulo: No, thank you. I'm fine.

Waiter: Excellent. I'll put your order in right away.

Listening Questions

A. True or false?

1. Sofia orders a glass of white wine. ____
2. Paulo orders a bottle of sparkling water. ____

B. Answer the questions.

1. What do Paulo and Sofia order for a starter?
2. What does Sofia order for the main course?
3. What does Paulo order for the main course?
4. Does Paulo order a side dish?

C. Complete the sentence.

1. The restaurant is called ____.

Speaking

Activity 1: What's in Your Kitchen?

Work with a partner. Tell each other what food you have in your kitchen right now. Use some, any, a few, a little, a lot of, and much/many.

Student A: I have some eggs, but I don't have any milk. I have a lot of rice. How about you?

Student B: I have a few tomatoes and a little cheese. I don't have many vegetables.

Activity 2: Role Play — Ordering Food

Student A (Waiter/Waitress): Greet the customer. Offer a menu. Ask about drinks, starters, main courses, and side dishes. Ask if everything is OK.

Student B (Customer): You are at a restaurant. Look at the menu below. Order food and drinks. Ask questions if you need to.

Menu:

[object Object]undefined

Swap roles and practice again.

Activity 3: Healthy Habits Discussion

In small groups, discuss these questions:

1. What are three healthy habits you have?
2. How many hours of sleep do you get every night? Is it enough?
3. How much water do you drink every day?
4. How many times a week do you exercise?
5. What is a healthy meal you like to eat?
6. What is one unhealthy habit you want to change?

Writing

Task 1: About My Favorite Meal

Write a paragraph (100–150 words) describing your favorite meal. Include:

- What the meal is and where it is from
- What ingredients are in it (use countable/uncountable nouns)
- How to make it (use cooking verbs: chop, boil, fry, mix, etc.)
- Why you like it

Writing structure:

1. First sentence: My favorite meal is...
2. Next 2-3 sentences: Describe the ingredients. Use a few, a little, some, a lot of.
3. Next 2-3 sentences: Explain how to make it. Use cooking verbs.
4. Last 1-2 sentences: Explain why you like this meal.

Model paragraph:

My favorite meal is spaghetti carbonara from Italy. You need a few simple ingredients: some pasta, eggs, cheese, and a little bacon. First, boil the pasta in a large pot of water. While the pasta is cooking, chop the bacon into small pieces and fry it until it is crispy. Then mix the eggs with a lot of cheese. After the pasta is ready, mix it with the bacon and the egg mixture. The heat from the pasta cooks the eggs. I love this meal because it is creamy, filling, and very easy to make.

Writing Tip

Use quantity words to make your descriptions more precise:
[object Object]undefined

Cooking verbs are also useful for giving instructions:

- First, chop the vegetables.
- Then fry the onions.
- Finally, mix everything together.

Task 2: Your Daily Diet

Write a short paragraph (60-80 words) about what you usually eat in a day. Use some, any, a lot of, a few, a little, much, and many.

Example start: For breakfast, I usually eat some cereal with a little milk...

Pronunciation

Word Stress in Food Words

In English, longer words have one syllable that is stronger (stressed). The stress can change the meaning or make words sound natural.
[object Object]undefined

Practice: Say these sentences aloud with correct word stress.

1. I bought some vegetables at the market.
2. She ordered spaghetti with meatballs.
3. Would you like a salad or a dessert?
4. He drinks a banana smoothie every morning.
5. How many oranges are in the fridge?
6. I love watermelon in the summer.

Tip: Mark the stress in new food words when you learn them. Use a capital letter for the stressed syllable in your notes. For example: vegeTable, spaGHeTti, saLAD, desSERT.

UNIT 5 — Work & Careers

Learning Objectives

- By the end of this unit, you will be able to:
- I can talk about how long I have worked or studied somewhere using for and since.
 - I can use modal verbs to talk about obligation, permission, and advice.
 - I can read job advertisements and write a job application email.
 - I can pronounce the weak forms of have and to in present perfect.

Vocabulary

[object Object]undefined

Grammar

Present Perfect with For and Since

We use the present perfect to talk about actions or situations that started in the past and continue to now.

Form: have / has + past participle

- I have worked at this company for three years.
- She has lived in London since 2020.

For = a period of time (duration)

[object Object]undefined

Since = a starting point in time

[object Object]undefined

Questions and short answers:

- How long have you worked here? — I have worked here for two years.
- How long has she had that job? — She has had it since January.

Modal Verbs: Obligation, Prohibition, and Advice

[object Object]undefined

Have to vs Must:

- Have to is more common in everyday English. It describes external rules or needs.
- Must is stronger and more formal. It often describes rules from the speaker or the organization.

Don't have to vs Mustn't:

- Don't have to = it is not necessary (you can choose).
- Mustn't = it is prohibited (you cannot do it).
- You don't have to work on Saturdays. (It is optional.)
- You mustn't share company passwords. (It is against the rules.)

Common Mistakes

- ✗ I have worked here since three years.
- ✓ I have worked here for three years. (period of time → for)
- ✗ She works here since 2021.
- ✓ She has worked here since 2021. (continuing action → present perfect)
- ✗ You don't must arrive late.
- ✓ You mustn't arrive late. (negative of must is mustn't)
- ✗ He has to works on Saturdays.
- ✓ He has to work on Saturdays. (after have to, use base verb)
- ✗ I have 30 years old.
- ✓ I am 30 years old. (age → verb to be)

Cover Email from an Applicant

To: careers@techsolutions.com

Subject: Application for Junior Software Developer — Ana Silva

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to apply for the Junior Software Developer position that I saw on your website.

I have recently graduated from the University of São Paulo with a degree in Computer Science. I have studied Python for three years, and I have completed several programming projects during my studies. I have also worked as an intern at a small tech company for six months, where I learned a lot about software development.

I am very interested in technology, and I am always eager to learn new skills. I have attached my CV and a portfolio of my projects. I am available for an interview at any time.

Thank you for considering my application. I look forward to hearing from you.

Best regards,

Ana Silva

Listening

Audio Script: A Job Interview

Interviewer: Good morning. Please come in and have a seat.

Candidate: Thank you. Good morning.

Interviewer: So, you are applying for the Marketing Assistant position. Tell me a little about yourself.

Candidate: Certainly. My name is Lucas, and I have worked in marketing for two years. I have been at my current company since last year. I mostly work with social media campaigns.

Interviewer: Interesting. What skills do you have?

Candidate: I am good at content writing, and I have some experience with graphic design. I have also taken a course in digital marketing.

Interviewer: That sounds good. Can you work under pressure? We often have tight deadlines.

Candidate: Yes, I can. In my current job, I have to manage several projects at the same time. I don't mind working extra hours if necessary.

Interviewer: Great. And why do you want to leave your current job?

Candidate: I want to grow. I have learned a lot there, but I feel I need new challenges. Your company works with big brands, and I really want to be part of that.

Interviewer: I see. Do you have any questions for us?

Candidate: Yes. What is the team like, and how many people would I work with?

Interviewer: You would work with a team of five people in the marketing department. Everyone is very supportive.

Candidate: That sounds wonderful. Thank you.

Listening Questions

A. True or false?

- Lucas has worked in marketing for two years. ____
- Lucas has been at his current company for two years. ____
- Lucas has taken a course in digital marketing. ____

B. Answer the questions.

- Why does Lucas want to leave his current job?
- How many people are in the marketing team?
- What question does Lucas ask at the end of the interview?

Speaking

Activity 1: Job Interview Role Play

Work with a partner. Take turns being the interviewer and the candidate.

Student A (Interviewer): Ask the candidate these questions:

- Tell me about yourself.
- What experience do you have?
- What are your strengths and weaknesses?
- Why do you want this job?
- Do you have any questions?

Student B (Candidate): Apply for a job of your choice. Answer the questions. Use present perfect (I have worked... / I have studied...) and modal verbs (I have to... / I should...).

Swap roles and practice again.

Activity 2: Find Someone Who...

Walk around the class and ask questions with How long have you...? Find a person for each question.

[object Object]undefined

Example: How long have you studied English? → I have studied English for two years.

- What you mustn't do
- What you should do to get this job

Model start: My ideal job is a graphic designer. I have to create designs for clients, but I don't have to work in an office...

Pronunciation

Weak Forms of Have and To in Present Perfect

In present perfect sentences, the words have and to are usually weak and unstressed. We say them quickly and quietly.

Weak form of have: /həv/ (sounds like "huv" or almost "uv")

Weak form of has: /həz/ (sounds like "huz")

Weak form of to: /tə/ (sounds like "tuh")

[object Object]undefined

Practice sentences: Read these aloud. Make have, has, and to weak.

1. I have /həv/ worked at this company for five years.
2. She has /həz/ been a nurse since 2020.
3. We have /həv/ known each other for a long time.
4. You have /həv/ to /tə/ finish the report by Friday.
5. He has /həz/ wanted to /tə/ be a manager for years.
6. They have /həv/ had three interviews this month.

Tip: Native speakers almost never say "I have" with a strong /hæv/ in sentences. Practice saying have as a quick, soft sound: /həv/.

Review

Vocabulary Review

A. Match the word with the correct definition.

UNIT 6 — Technology & Comparisons

Learning Objectives

- By the end of this unit, you will be able to:
- I can compare two things using comparative and superlative adjectives.
 - I can use (not) as ... as and comparative adverbs.
 - I can talk about technology and digital devices.
 - I can write a product review comparing two products.

Vocabulary

[object Object]undefined

Grammar

Comparative and Superlative Adjectives

We use comparatives to compare two things. We use superlatives to compare three or more things.

[object Object]undefined

Spelling rules:

- One syllable ending in consonant + vowel + consonant → double the last letter: big → bigger, hot → hotter
- Two syllables ending in -y → change -y to -ier: easy → easier, happy → happier
- Two+ syllables (not ending in -y) → add more / most: expensive → more expensive → the most expensive

Examples:

- This phone is cheaper than that one. (comparative)
- This is the cheapest phone in the store. (superlative)
- My laptop is more powerful than yours.
- This is the most powerful laptop on the market.

Irregular Forms

[object Object]undefined

- This app is better than the old one.
- That was the worst movie I have ever seen.
- My house is farther from the office than yours.

(Not) As ... As

We use as + adjective + as to say two things are equal. We use not as + adjective + as to say they are not equal.

- The new model is as fast as the old one. (equal)
- This tablet is not as expensive as a laptop. (the tablet is cheaper)
- My phone is as good as yours. (equal)
- Streaming is not as cheap as downloading. (streaming is more expensive)

Comparative Adverbs

We also use comparative forms with adverbs to compare actions.

[object Object]undefined

- This phone runs faster than my old one.
- She types more quickly than I do.
- He works more carefully now.
- This app works better than the previous version.

Common Mistakes

✗ This phone is more cheap than that one.

✓ This phone is cheaper than that one. (one syllable → add -er)

✗ This is the goodest phone I have used.

✓ This is the best phone I have used. (irregular: good → better → the best)

✗ My laptop is more big than yours.

✓ My laptop is bigger than yours. (one syllable, double consonant)

✗ This tablet is not as expensive like a laptop.

✓ This tablet is not as expensive as a laptop. (use as...as, not as...like)

✗ She speaks English gooder than me.

✓ She speaks English better than me. (irregular: well → better)

Which Streaming Service Is Best?

Tech Talk Blog — by Marco

Posted: 2 April 2024

If you love watching movies and TV shows, you have probably used a streaming service. But which one is the best? Today, I am comparing two popular services: StreamMax and ViewPlus.

Price

StreamMax costs $12 per month, and ViewPlus costs $15 per month. So StreamMax is cheaper. However, ViewPlus has a family plan for $20, which is actually better value if you share with others.

Content

ViewPlus has more movies and TV shows than StreamMax. It also has a lot of original content. StreamMax has fewer options, but the quality is very high. Some people say that the shows on StreamMax are more interesting than those on ViewPlus. I think ViewPlus has a wider variety, so it is better for families.

Ease of Use

Both apps are easy to use, but StreamMax is simpler. The interface is cleaner, and it is easier to find what you want. ViewPlus has more categories, which can be confusing sometimes. However, ViewPlus has a better search function.

Video Quality

ViewPlus offers 4K resolution, but you have to pay extra. StreamMax includes 4K in the basic plan. So StreamMax is better for video quality if you have a 4K TV.

My Verdict

StreamMax is not as expensive as ViewPlus, and it has very good shows. But if you want variety, ViewPlus is the better choice. For me, ViewPlus is the best streaming service overall because it has the most content and the best family plan.

Comprehension

A. Choose the correct answer.

- How much does StreamMax cost per month?
 - a) $12
 - b) $15
 - c) $20
- Which service has more movies and TV shows?
 - a) StreamMax
 - b) ViewPlus
 - c) They have the same amount
- What does Marco say about the search function?
 - a) StreamMax has a better search function.
 - b) ViewPlus has a better search function.
 - c) Neither has a good search function.

B. True or false?

- StreamMax is more expensive than ViewPlus. ____
- ViewPlus has a family plan for $20. ____
- StreamMax includes 4K in the basic plan. ____

C. Answer the questions.

- According to Marco, which service is easier to use? Why?
- Why does Marco choose ViewPlus as the best overall service?
- Which streaming service do you use? How does it compare to the ones in the article?

Listening

Audio Script: Which Phone Should I Buy?

Mia: Hey, Leo! I need your help. I want to buy a new phone, but I can't decide between two models.

Leo: Sure! Which ones are you looking at?

Mia: The Pixel Nova and the Galaxy S23. The Pixel Nova costs $600, and the Galaxy costs $800.

Leo: So the Pixel Nova is cheaper. But what about the camera? That is important for you, right?

Mia: Yes, very important. The Galaxy has a better camera. The photos are clearer, and it works better in low light.

Leo: OK. What about battery life?

Mia: The Pixel Nova has a bigger battery. It lasts about two days, but the Galaxy only lasts one day.

Leo: That is a big difference. And the screen?

Mia: The Galaxy has a brighter screen, and it is better for watching videos. But the Pixel Nova is lighter and easier to hold.

Leo: Hmm. And the software? Which one is faster?

Mia: They are about the same. The Galaxy might be a little faster, but not much.

Leo: So the Galaxy has a better camera and screen, but the Pixel Nova has a bigger battery and is cheaper. Which is more important to you?

Mia: I think the camera is the most important thing. I take a lot of photos for my blog.

Leo: Then get the Galaxy! You will be happier with it.

Mia: You are right. Thanks, Leo!

Listening Questions

A. True or false?

- The Pixel Nova costs $800. ____
- The Galaxy has a better camera than the Pixel Nova. ____
- The Pixel Nova has a bigger battery. ____

B. Answer the questions.

- Which phone has a brighter screen?
- How long does the Pixel Nova battery last?
- Why does Mia decide to buy the Galaxy?

- ... has a better ...
- I think ... is the best because ...

Activity 2: Class Survey — Find the Best

Walk around the class and ask your classmates. Find one person for each category.

[object Object]undefined

Example: What phone do you have? How old is it? → I have an iPhone 12. It is three years old.

Activity 3: Technology Debate

In small groups, discuss these questions. Use comparatives and superlatives.

- What is the best social media app? Why is it better than others?
- Is streaming better than traditional TV? Why or why not?
- What is the most useful app on your phone?
- Are laptops better than tablets for studying? Why?
- What is the biggest advantage and the biggest disadvantage of smartphones?

Writing

Task 1: Product Review — Compare Two Products

Write a product review (150–180 words) comparing two products you have used. They can be phones, laptops, apps, streaming services, or any technology products.

Include:

- The names of the two products
- Their prices (if you know them)
- At least three areas of comparison (battery, speed, screen, camera, ease of use, design, etc.)
- Your recommendation at the end

Structure:

Title: [Product A] vs [Product B] – Which Is Better?

I have used both [Product A] and [Product B], and I want to share my experience.

[Product A] is [cheaper / more expensive / better / worse] than [Product B].

However, [Product B] is better for...

...

Overall, I think [your recommendation].

Writing Tip

Use comparison phrases to make your review clear:

- For differences: ... is cheaper than ..., more expensive than ..., better than ...
- For similarities: ... is as good as ...
- For superlatives: This is the best / the worst / the most useful ...

Use linking words: However, On the other hand, Also, In addition, Overall

Task 2: My Favorite Device

Write a paragraph (80–100 words) about your favorite technology device. Describe it and compare it to other devices you have used. Use comparatives and superlatives.

Model start: My favorite device is my laptop. It is faster than my old laptop, and it is lighter, too. The screen is bigger and clearer..

Pronunciation

Sentence Stress in Comparatives

In comparative sentences, we stress the comparative word. This makes the comparison clear.

Pattern: Subject + verb + COMPARATIVE (+ than + object)

- This phone is CHEAPER than that one.
- My laptop is FASTER than yours.
- This app is MORE USEFUL than the other one.
- StreamMax is NOT AS EXPENSIVE as ViewPlus.

In superlative sentences, we stress the superlative word.

- This is THE CHEAPEST phone in the store.
- That is THE BEST movie I have seen.
- She has THE MOST EXPERIENCE in the team.

Practice: Read these sentences aloud. Stress the bold words.

1. My phone is OLDER than yours.
2. This laptop is MORE POWERFUL than that one.
3. The Galaxy has a BETTER camera.
4. This is THE WORST app I have ever used.
5. The new model is NOT AS BIG as the old one.
6. Which is THE MOST POPULAR streaming service?

Tip: When you say a comparative, your voice should go up on the comparative word. Try it: This is BIGger. — This is MORE expensive.

UNIT 7 — Plans & Dreams

Learning Objectives

- By the end of this unit, you will be able to:
- I can talk about future plans and intentions using going to.
 - I can make predictions and promises using will.
 - I can talk about fixed future arrangements using present continuous.
 - I can write an email about my plans for the future.

Vocabulary

[object Object]undefined

Grammar

Future Forms: Will, Going To, Present Continuous

We use different forms to talk about the future. The form you choose depends on the meaning.

Will + base verb

[object Object]undefined

Form: will + base verb (no change for he/she/it)

- I will call you tomorrow.
- She will be a great manager.
- They will arrive soon.

Negative: will not = won't

- I won't forget your birthday.
- He won't like this movie.

Questions: Will + subject + base verb?

- Will you come to the party?
- Will she pass the exam?

Going To + base verb

[object Object]undefined

Form: am / is / are + going to + base verb

- I am going to travel to Japan next year.
- She is going to study medicine.
- They are going to buy a house.

Negative: am not / isn't / aren't + going to

- I am not going to attend the meeting.
- He isn't going to apply for that job.

Questions: Am / Is / Are + subject + going to + base verb?

- Are you going to call him?
- Is she going to join us for dinner?

Present Continuous for Future (Fixed Arrangements)

We use present continuous for arrangements that are already planned, often with a specific time or date.

- I am meeting my boss tomorrow at 10 am.
- She is flying to London next Monday.
- We are having dinner with friends on Saturday.

[object Object]undefined

Common Mistakes

- ✗ I will going to visit my family next week.
- ✓ I am going to visit my family next week. (don't combine will and going to)
- ✗ She will to call you later.
- ✓ She will call you later. (no to after will)
- ✗ I am going to buy a car. I decided right now.
- ✓ I will buy this car. (spontaneous decision → will)
- ✓ I am going to buy a car next year. (plan → going to)
- ✗ Look at that car! It will crash!
- ✓ Look at that car! It is going to crash! (prediction with evidence → going to)

Where Will We Be in 10 Years?

Future World Magazine

What will life look like in 2036? Experts have made some interesting predictions about technology, work, and daily life. Here are three areas where big changes are coming.

Technology

Dr. Elena Vos, a technology researcher, believes that artificial intelligence will change almost everything. "In ten years, AI will help doctors diagnose diseases faster. It will also create personalized lessons for students. Many people will use AI assistants at home, just like we use smartphones today." However, she says some things won't change. "People will still want human connection. Technology will not replace real friendships."

Work

According to a recent study, more people will work from home in the future. "By 2036, 40% of workers will probably work remotely," says economist James Park. "Companies are going to save money on office space, and employees will have more flexible schedules." But he also warns that some jobs will disappear. "Routine jobs like data entry might not exist anymore. People will need to learn new skills."

Daily Life

What about our everyday lives? Futurist Maria Santos thinks transportation is going to change dramatically. "Electric cars will become cheaper, and self-driving cars will be normal. People will probably spend less time driving and more time relaxing." She also predicts that homes will be smarter. "Your fridge will tell you when you need to buy milk. Your lights will turn on and off automatically. Life will definitely be more convenient." So, what are your plans? Where will you be in ten years?

Comprehension

A. Choose the correct answer.

- What does Dr. Elena Vos say about AI in education?
 - a) AI will replace teachers completely.
 - b) AI will create personalized lessons for students.
 - c) AI will not be used in schools.
- What percentage of workers might work from home by 2036?
 - a) 30%
 - b) 40%
 - c) 50%
- According to Maria Santos, what will homes be like in the future?
 - a) They will be bigger.
 - b) They will be smarter and more convenient.
 - c) They will be more expensive.

B. True or false?

- Dr. Elena Vos says AI will replace real friendships. ____
- James Park says routine jobs might disappear in the future. ____
- Maria Santos predicts self-driving cars will be normal. ____

C. Answer the questions.

- What is one thing Dr. Vos says will NOT change in the future?
- Why will companies save money if people work from home?
- What is one prediction you agree with? What is one prediction you disagree with? Why?

Audio Script: Making Plans for the Weekend

Emma: Hey, Tom! Do you have any plans for the weekend?

Tom: Not really. I am going to relax on Saturday. I have had a busy week. What about you?

Emma: Well, I am going to visit my parents on Saturday. My mom is cooking a big lunch.

Tom: That sounds nice! Are you going to stay there overnight?

Emma: No, I am coming back in the evening. But on Sunday, I am free. Do you want to do something?

Tom: Sure! What do you want to do?

Emma: I am not sure. Maybe we can go to the beach? The weather is going to be warm.

Tom: Good idea! I will check the weather forecast later. If it is sunny, I will text you in the morning.

Emma: Great. And I will bring some food for a picnic.

Tom: Perfect! Oh, and I need to buy a new swimsuit. I will go shopping on Friday evening after work.

Emma: OK. Let's meet at the bus station at 10 am on Sunday?

Tom: Sounds like a plan. I will see you there!

Emma: See you!

Listening Questions

A. True or false?

- Tom is going to work on Saturday. ____
- Emma is going to visit her parents on Saturday. ____
- They decide to go to the beach on Sunday. ____

B. Answer the questions.

- What is Emma's mom doing on Saturday?
- What will Tom do on Friday evening?
- Where are they going to meet on Sunday?

C. Complete the sentence.

- Tom will text Emma in the morning if the weather ____.

Speaking

Activity 1: Make Plans for the Weekend

Work with a partner. Plan a weekend together. Use going to, will, and present continuous for future.

Student A: Suggest an activity for Saturday.

Student B: Respond. Suggest another activity for Sunday.

Student A: Agree or suggest something different.

Student B: Decide on a time and place to meet.

Useful phrases:

- What are you going to do this weekend?
- I am going to... / I am planning to...
- Do you want to...?
- Good idea! I will...
- Let's meet at...

Activity 2: Predictions Game

Work in small groups. Take turns making predictions about your classmates' futures. Use will / won't + probably, definitely, maybe.

Examples:

- I think you will probably work in technology.
- I believe you will travel to many countries.
- You will definitely learn to speak English very well.
- Maybe you will start your own business one day.

After everyone has made a prediction, the person says if they agree or disagree.

Activity 3: Future Plans Discussion

In pairs or small groups, discuss these questions. Use going to, will, and hoping to.

- What are you going to do after this English course finishes?
- Where do you think you will be living in five years?
- What is one promise you will make to yourself for the future?
- Are you going to travel anywhere this year? Where?
- What job do you think you will have in ten years?
- What is something you hope will happen in your life?

Writing

Task 1: Email About Your Plans for Next Year

Write an email (120–160 words) to a friend about your plans for next year. Use going to, will, and present continuous for future.

Include:

- A greeting and an update about your life
- Your plans for next year (studies, work, travel, etc.)
- A prediction about something
- An invitation or question for your friend
- A closing

Structure:

Subject: My plans for next year!

Hi [friend's name],

How are you? I hope you are doing well. I wanted to tell you about my plans for next year.

First, I am going to...
I am also planning to...
I think I will probably...

What about you? What are you going to do next year?

Write back soon!

Best wishes,

[Your name]

Writing Tip

Use these phrases to organize your plans:

- First / Next / Then / After that / Finally
- I am going to... (intention)
- I am...ing... (fixed arrangement)
- I think I will... / I will probably... / I will definitely... (prediction)
- I hope to... / I would like to... (hopes and wishes)

Task 2: My Dream for the Future

Write a paragraph (80–100 words) describing your dream life in the future. Use will and going to.

Model start: In the future, I think my life will be very different. I am going to live in a big city, and I will probably work as a...

Pronunciation

Contractions with Will and Going To

In spoken English, we usually contract will with the subject. We also often say "going to" as "gonna" in casual speech.

Contractions with Will:

[object Object]undefined

"Going to" in casual speech:

In everyday conversation, "going to" often becomes "gonna" /ˈɡɒnə/.

- I am going to buy a car. → I'm gonna buy a car.
- She is going to study abroad. → She's gonna study abroad.
- They are going to visit us. → They're gonna visit us.

Important: Use "gonna" only in speaking or very informal writing. In formal writing, always use going to.

Practice: Read these sentences aloud, using contractions and "gonna."

1. I'll (I will) call you when I get home.
2. She'll (she will) be a great doctor one day.
3. It'll (it will) probably rain this afternoon.
4. We're gonna (going to) travel to Europe next year.
5. They're gonna (going to) move to a new apartment.
6. I think he'll (he will) like the surprise.

Tip: Practice saying I'll and you'll as one syllable. I'll rhymes with "smile." You'll rhymes with "cool."

Recommendation Phrases

[object Object]undefined

Grammar

First Conditional: Real Future Possibility

We use the first conditional to talk about a real or possible situation in the future and its result.

Form: If + present simple, will + base verb

[object Object]undefined

The order can change. When the if clause comes first, use a comma. When the main clause comes first, no comma.

- If you save money, you will be able to travel.
- You will be able to travel if you save money.

Negative: Use if + present simple negative or won't in the main clause.

- If you don't study, you won't pass the exam.
- I won't go out if it rains.

Questions: What will you do if you don't get the job?

Variations of the First Conditional

[object Object]undefined

- Unless you hurry, you will miss the bus.
- You can stay here as long as you pay rent.
- If you need help, call me.

Modal Verbs for Advice

[object Object]undefined

If I were you, I would... — This is a very common and friendly way to give advice.

- If I were you, I would accept the job offer.
- If I were you, I wouldn't worry about it too much.

Common Mistakes

- ✗ If I will have time, I will help you.
- ✓ If I have time, I will help you. (use present simple in the if clause, not will)
- ✗ If I would be you, I would study more.
- ✓ If I were you, I would study more. (use were, not would be)
- ✗ You should to talk to your manager.
- ✓ You should talk to your manager. (no to after should)
- ✗ Unless you will study, you won't pass.
- ✓ Unless you study, you won't pass. (present simple after unless)
- ✗ I recommend you to apply for that job.
- ✓ I recommend applying for that job. OR I recommend that you apply for that job.

Ask Anna: Advice for Life's Problems

Dear Anna,

I have a problem and I don't know what to do. I have worked at the same company for five years. The salary is good, and my colleagues are nice. But I feel bored. Every day is the same, and I don't feel challenged anymore. Recently, I saw a job advertisement at a different company. The job sounds exciting, and I think I would learn a lot. But I am scared to leave my comfortable job. What if I don't like the new job? What if the people are not friendly? What should I do? Should I stay in my safe job or take a risk?

— Stuck in a Routine, Manchester

Dear Stuck in a Routine,

Thank you for writing. Your situation is very common, and many people feel the same way at some point in their careers. Here is my advice. First, you shouldn't make a decision too quickly. Take some time to think about what you really want. If you are bored, the best thing to do is find out why. Is it the job itself, or is it the routine?

Second, I suggest you learn more about the new job. If I were you, I would go to the interview even if you are not sure. An interview is not a promise — you can always say no later. If you go, you will learn more about the company and the role.

Third, think about the advantages and disadvantages of each option. Make a list. If the new job has more benefits, it might be the right choice. Finally, remember that you can try something new. If you don't like it, you can look for something else. As long as you have a plan, you will be fine. Good luck!

— Anna

Dear Anna,

I am a university student, and I am very stressed about my future. I am studying business, but I am not sure if I like it. My parents want me to be an accountant, but I am more interested in art and design. I don't want to disappoint my parents, but I also want to be happy. What should I do?

— Confused Student, Leeds

Dear Confused Student,

This is a difficult situation, and I understand your stress. Here are some things to think about.

First, you ought to have an honest conversation with your parents. Tell them how you feel. If you explain your feelings, they will probably understand. Parents usually want their children to be happy.

Second, you could try taking an art class or a design course in your free time. If you enjoy it, you will know that this is the right path for you. You don't have to change your whole life tomorrow.

Third, think about combining both interests. There are jobs in fields like graphic design, marketing, and product design where business knowledge is useful. If I were you, I would look for a career that uses both your business skills and your creativity.

Remember, it is your life. You should follow your heart, but you shouldn't ignore practical things like money and job opportunities. The best thing to do is find a balance.

— Anna

Comprehension

A. Choose the correct answer.

- How long has the first letter writer worked at their company?
 - a) Three years
 - b) Five years
 - c) Ten years
- What does Anna suggest the first writer do about the new job?
 - a) Accept the job immediately
 - b) Go to the interview to learn more
 - c) Stay at the current job
- What is the second writer studying at university?
 - a) Art and design
 - b) Accounting
 - c) Business

B. True or false?

- Anna tells the first writer to make a quick decision. ____
- Anna suggests the second writer talk to their parents. ____
- Anna says the second writer should choose between business and art completely. ____

C. Answer the questions.

- What does Anna say about going to an interview even if you are unsure?
- What advice does Anna give about combining interests?
- Which piece of advice in the reading is most useful to you? Why?

Listening

Audio Script: Choosing a Career Path

Teacher: Hi, Sam. You wanted to talk about your course choices for next year?

Sam: Yes, Ms. Parker. I am a bit confused. I am not sure which subjects to choose.

Teacher: I understand. What are you interested in?

Sam: I enjoy biology and chemistry, but I also like art. My parents say I should study medicine because doctors earn good money. But I am not sure if that is what I want.

Teacher: That is a big decision. First, you shouldn't choose a career only for money. If you choose something you don't enjoy, you will be unhappy.

Sam: That is what I am worried about.

Teacher: What do you enjoy about art?

Sam: I love designing things and being creative. I have thought about studying architecture. That combines science and art.

Teacher: That is a great idea! If I were you, I would research architecture programs. If you study architecture, you will use your science skills and your creativity.

Sam: That sounds perfect! But what should I tell my parents?

Teacher: If I were you, I would explain that architecture combines both things you love. You could also show them examples of buildings you admire.

Sam: That is good advice. I will talk to them tonight.

Teacher: Good. And remember, if you need more help, you can always come back and talk to me.

Sam: Thank you, Ms. Parker. That helps a lot.

Listening Questions

A. True or false?

- Sam enjoys biology, chemistry, and art. ____
- Sam's parents want him to study art. ____
- Ms. Parker suggests Sam should study something he enjoys. ____

B. Answer the questions.

- What career does Ms. Parker suggest Sam consider?
- Why does Ms. Parker say this career is a good fit for Sam?
- What advice does Ms. Parker give about talking to Sam's parents?
- What is one thing you should NOT do when choosing a career, according to Ms. Parker?

Speaking

Activity 1: Give Advice — Role Play

Work with a partner. Student A has a problem. Student B gives advice. Use first conditional and advice phrases.

Student A: Choose a problem to talk about:

- I can't decide between two jobs. One pays more, but the other is more interesting.
- I want to learn English faster, but I don't have much time.
- My friend wants to borrow money from me, but I am not sure if I should lend it.
- I want to travel, but I don't have enough money.

Student B: Give advice. Use these phrases:

- If I were you, I would...
- You should / shouldn't...
- You could...
- If you..., you will...
- The best thing to do is...

Activity 2: Problem Page Discussion

In small groups, read the problems below. Discuss and give advice. Use conditionals and advice phrases.

Problem 1: I recently moved to a new city for work. I don't know anyone, and I feel lonely. What should I do?

Problem 2: My boss gives me too much work. I have to stay late every day, and I am very stressed. What should I do?

Problem 3: I want to start my own business, but I am scared of failing. I have a good job now. Should I leave it?
Group discussion: Listen to each person's advice. Then decide as a group: what is the best advice for each problem?

Activity 3: Consequences Chain

Sit in a circle or work in small groups. Take turns completing conditional chains.

- Student A: If I wake up late tomorrow...
Student B: ...I will miss the bus. If I miss the bus...
Student C: ...I will be late for work. If I am late for work...
Student D: ...my boss will be angry. If my boss is angry...

Continue the chain as long as you can. Then start a new chain with a different beginning.

Other starting sentences:

- If I win a lot of money...
- If I move to another country...
- If I learn to speak English fluently...
- If I get a promotion at work...

Writing

Task 1: Email Giving Advice

Write an email (140–180 words) giving advice to someone who has a problem. Choose one of the problems below, or make up your own.

Problems to choose from:

1. I have a job interview next week, and I am very nervous. What should I do?
2. I want to save money, but I always spend everything I earn. How can I stop?
3. My friend and I want to travel together, but we have different budgets and different ideas. How can we agree?

Include:

- A sympathetic opening
- At least three pieces of advice using should, If I were you, you could, etc.
- At least one first conditional sentence (If you... you will...)
- A warm closing

Structure:

Subject: Some advice for you

Dear [name],

I am sorry to hear that you are worried about [problem]. Here is some advice that might help.

First, if I were you, I would...
You should also...
If you..., you will...

I hope this helps. Let me know how it goes!

Best wishes,

[Your name]

Writing Tip
When giving advice in writing:

- Start with a sympathetic sentence: I am sorry to hear that... / I understand how you feel.
- Use a soft tone. Don't sound like you are ordering the person.
- Use a mix of advice phrases: You should... / If I were you, I would... / You could... / Have you thought about...?
- End warmly: I hope this helps. / Good luck! / Let me know what you decide.

Task 2: Pros and Cons List

Write a paragraph (80–100 words) about a decision you need to make. First, make a list of advantages and disadvantages. Then write a conclusion using a first conditional sentence.

Model:

I am trying to decide whether to buy a new phone or keep my old one.
[object Object]undefined

After thinking about it, I think I will wait. If I wait for six months, the new phone will probably be cheaper, and I will save more money in the meantime.

Pronunciation

Sentence Stress for Emphasis in Advice

When giving advice, we often stress the advice word to make it stronger or more convincing.

Stress the advice verb (should, could, recommend, advise):

- You SHOULD talk to your manager.
- You SHOULDN'T worry too much.
- I REALLY think you should apply.
- I STRONGLY recommend taking a break.

Stress the word were in If I were you:

- If I WERE you, I would accept the offer.
- If I WERE you, I wouldn't do that.

Stress the result in conditional sentences:

- If you study hard, you WILL pass.
- If you don't hurry, you WILL miss the bus.
- If you save money, you CAN travel.

Practice: Read these sentences aloud. Stress the bold words.

1. You SHOULD get more sleep.
2. If I WERE you, I would take the job.
3. I REALLY think you should try something new.
4. You SHOULDN'T make a decision too quickly.
5. If you talk to your parents, they WILL understand.
6. The BEST thing to do is follow your heart.

Tip: When you want to show strong feeling in advice, make the key word longer and higher in pitch: You SHOULD try it! Your voice goes up on SHOULD.

English Bridge: From A2 to B1 — Units 9-12

Unit 9 — Nature & Environment

Learning Objectives

By the end of this unit, you will be able to:

- Talk about imaginary situations and their results using the second conditional.
- Discuss environmental issues and ways to protect the planet.
- Give advice using "If I were you..."
- Write a persuasive paragraph about helping the environment.

Vocabulary

[object Object]undefined

Grammar: Second Conditional

Form

We use the second conditional to talk about imaginary or unreal situations in the present or future.

If + past simple, would + base verb

[object Object]undefined

Use

We use the second conditional for:

1. Imaginary situations — things that are not true or unlikely to happen.
 - If I were the president, I would stop pollution. (I am not the president.)
 - If we had a garden, we would grow our own vegetables. (We don't have a garden.)
2. Giving advice — "If I were you..."
 - If I were you, I would start recycling.
 - If I were you, I would use less plastic.

First Conditional vs. Second Conditional

[object Object]undefined

Common Mistakes

✗ If I would have more time, I would exercise.

✓ If I had more time, I would exercise.

Do NOT use "would" in the if-clause. Use the past simple in the if-clause.

✗ If I was you, I would recycle more.

✓ If I were you, I would recycle more.

Use "were" (not "was") after "If I..." in the second conditional.

Reading

What Would You Do to Save the Planet?

Most of us know that our planet is in trouble. Climate change is causing temperatures to rise, and pollution is damaging our air and water. But what would you do if you had to make big changes to your lifestyle?

Imagine if everyone in your city decided to recycle more. The amount of waste going to landfills would decrease by half. What if all your neighbours started using renewable energy? The air would become cleaner, and your city would be healthier.

Some people say they would do more for the environment if they had more money or time. But small changes can make a big difference. If you carried a reusable water bottle, you would reduce plastic waste. If you walked or cycled for short trips, you would reduce your carbon footprint. If you bought less food and ate what you had, less food would go to waste.

Of course, we cannot solve the problem alone. But imagine what would happen if everyone made just one small change. If one million people stopped using plastic bags, there would be millions fewer bags in the ocean. If every household turned off lights when leaving a room, we would save huge amounts of energy.

If I were you, I would start with one small change today. What would you choose?

Comprehension

A. Read the statements. Write T (True) or F (False).

1. ___ The article says that climate change is not a serious problem.
2. ___ If everyone in a city recycled more, there would be less waste.
3. ___ The article recommends making only big changes to help the planet.
4. ___ Using a reusable water bottle can help reduce plastic waste.
5. ___ The article says one person cannot make any difference at all.
6. ___ Turning off lights when leaving a room saves energy.

B. Answer the questions in complete sentences.

1. What would happen if everyone in a city started using renewable energy?
2. Why do some people say they do not do more for the environment?
3. What is one "small change" the article suggests?

Listening

Listening Script: Office Recycling

Sarah: Hey Mark, have you noticed how much paper we throw away in this office?

Mark: I know. It's terrible. If we had a better recycling system, we would waste less.

Sarah: Exactly. If I were the manager, I would put recycling bins next to every desk.

Mark: That's a great idea. And if people could see how much waste they produce, they would probably change their habits.

Sarah: True. Also, if we used less printing paper, we would save a lot of trees.

Mark: I agree. I try to read documents on screen, but sometimes I need to print.

Sarah: Me too. But if everyone printed less, the office would save money too.

Mark: You're right. What else would you do if you were in charge?

Sarah: I would ask the company to use renewable energy. If we switched to solar power, our electricity bill would go down and we would help the environment.

Mark: Those are good ideas. Maybe we should talk to the manager about this.

Sarah: Definitely. If we suggest these changes together, she might listen.

(The conversation continues as they plan to speak to their manager.)

Listening Comprehension

A. Listen and choose the correct answer.

1. What does Sarah first notice in the office?
 - a) That people use too much electricity
 - b) That people throw away a lot of paper
 - c) That the office is too hot
2. What would Sarah do if she were the manager?
 - a) She would buy new computers
 - b) She would put recycling bins next to every desk
 - c) She would hire more staff
3. According to Mark, what would happen if people could see their waste?
 - a) They would recycle more
 - b) They would change their habits
 - c) They would print less

B. Answer the questions.

1. What benefit of solar power does Sarah mention?
2. Why does Mark sometimes need to print documents?

Speaking

Activity 1: What Would You Do?

Work in pairs. Discuss what you would do in these imaginary situations:

- If you were the president of your country for a day.
- If you could live anywhere in the world.
- If you had one million dollars.

Activity 2: Environmental Advice

Work in pairs. Give advice to your partner using "If I were you...":

- Your partner wants to reduce their carbon footprint.
- Your partner wants to save water at home.
- Your partner wants to produce less plastic waste.

Activity 3: Discussion

In small groups, discuss these questions:

- What is the biggest environmental problem in your country?
- What would happen if everyone stopped using cars for one day?
- What would you change about your city to make it greener?

Writing

Task: Persuasive Paragraph

Write a persuasive paragraph (120–150 words) about one thing people should do to help the environment. Choose one action (e.g., recycle more, use less plastic, save energy, plant trees) and explain why it is important.

Include:

- A topic sentence that states your main idea
- 2–3 reasons with examples
- A concluding sentence

Tip Box: Persuasive Writing

- Use the second conditional to talk about imaginary positive results: If everyone recycled, there would be less waste.
- Use modals like should and must to show importance.
- Address the reader directly: You can make a difference.
- Use linking words: First of all, Furthermore, As a result, In conclusion.

Pronunciation

Weak Form of "Would"

In connected speech, "would" is often pronounced as /wəd/ instead of /wud/. It is shorter and less stressed.

Listen and repeat:

[object Object]undefined

Practice:

Read these sentences aloud, using the weak form of "would":

1. If I had time, I would exercise more.
2. If she knew the answer, she would tell us.
3. We would help if we could.
4. They would buy an electric car if it were cheaper.

Review

A. Vocabulary Match

Match the words to their definitions.

[object Object]undefined

B. Second Conditional — Complete the Sentences

Complete the sentences with the correct form of the verbs in brackets.

1. If I ____ (have) a garden, I ____ (grow) my own vegetables.
2. If people ____ (drive) less, the air ____ (be) cleaner.
3. We ____ (use) less energy if we ____ (turn off) lights more often.
4. If she ____ (be) the president, she ____ (stop) pollution.
5. The world ____ (be) a better place if everyone ____ (recycle).
6. If I ____ (know) how to fix it, I ____ (repair) it myself.

C. First or Second Conditional?

Choose the correct form.

1. If it (rains / rained) tomorrow, I will stay home.
2. If I (have / had) a million dollars, I would travel around the world.
3. If you (study / studied) hard, you will pass the exam.
4. If she (lives / lived) on a tropical island, she would swim every day.
5. If we (leave / left) now, we will catch the bus.
6. If I (were / am) you, I would apologize to her.

Unit 10 — People & Relationships

Learning Objectives

By the end of this unit, you will be able to:

- Describe people's personality and appearance in detail.
- Use relative clauses (who, which, that, where) to give more information.
- Write a description of a person you admire.
- Understand and use compound adjectives correctly.

Grammar: Relative Clauses

Defining Relative Clauses

We use defining relative clauses to give essential information about a person, thing, or place. Without this information, the sentence would not be complete.

[object Object]undefined

Omission of the Relative Pronoun

When the relative pronoun is the object of the clause (not the subject), we can omit it.

- The man who I met yesterday was very kind. → The man I met yesterday was very kind.
- The film which we watched was great. → The film we watched was great.
- But we CANNOT omit the pronoun when it is the subject:
 - The woman who lives next door is kind. (cannot omit "who")

Common Mistakes

✗ The person which called you is here.

✓ The person who called you is here.

Use "who" (not "which") for people.

✗ That's the house who I grew up in.

✓ That's the house where I grew up. / That's the house which I grew up in.

Use "where" for places.

Reading

The New Neighbour

When a new neighbour moved into the house next door, I was curious. I saw a moving truck early in the morning, and by lunchtime, boxes were everywhere. I decided to introduce myself.

The door opened, and a tall woman with curly hair smiled at me. "Hi! I'm Maria," she said. She had a friendly voice and seemed very outgoing. Over the next few weeks, I learned more about Maria. She works as a nurse at the local hospital. She is the kind of person who always puts others first. She is kind and patient, which makes her excellent at her job. She is also very funny — she tells the best jokes at our neighbourhood gatherings.

Maria has a son named Leo, who is ten years old. Leo is a boy who is shy at first, but once you get to know him, he is very generous and hardworking. He helps his mother with gardening every weekend, which is something they enjoy doing together.

Our neighbourhood is a place where everyone knows each other. There are families with young children, older couples, and young professionals. The street where I live is quiet and safe. It is the kind of neighbourhood that feels like home.

Maria has become a close friend, not just a neighbour. She is someone who always listens when I need to talk. I am glad she moved here. A good neighbour can make all the difference.

Comprehension

A. Choose the correct answer.

1. What was the narrator curious about?
 - a) The moving truck
 - b) The new neighbour
 - c) The neighbourhood
2. What is Maria's job?
 - a) A teacher
 - b) A nurse
 - c) A doctor
3. Which word best describes Leo at first?
 - a) Outgoing
 - b) Stubborn
 - c) Shy
4. What does Leo do every weekend?
 - a) He plays with friends
 - b) He helps with gardening
 - c) He visits his father

B. Answer the questions.

1. Why does the narrator say Maria is good at her job?
2. What kind of neighbourhood does the narrator describe?

Listening

Listening Script: Describing a Friend

Emma: Hey Liam, do you know Mrs. Adams from the English school?

Liam: Mrs. Adams? The teacher who wears colourful scarves?

Emma: Yes, that's the one! I think she is the best teacher I have ever had.

Liam: Really? What is she like?

Emma: Well, she is a teacher who really cares about her students. She is very patient and always explains things until everyone understands.

Liam: That sounds nice. Is she strict?

Emma: Not really. She is strict about homework, but she is also really funny. She tells jokes that make the whole class laugh.

Liam: I had a different teacher. Mr. Brown. He is the teacher who taught me last year.

Emma: Oh, what is he like?

Liam: He is quite serious and very ambitious. He expects a lot from his students. But he is also very kind. He helped me a lot with my writing.

Emma: It sounds like you liked him.

Liam: I did. He is the reason my English improved so much.

Emma: Teachers who care about their students make such a difference.

Listening Comprehension

A. Listen and choose the correct answer.

- How does Emma describe Mrs. Adams?
 - Strict and serious
 - Patient and funny
 - Shy and quiet
- What is Mrs. Adams strict about?
 - Being on time
 - Homework
 - Speaking English in class
- How did Mr. Brown help Liam?
 - He gave him extra books
 - He helped him with his writing
 - He taught him after school

B. Answer the questions.

- What does Liam say about his English improvement?
- What kind of teachers do Emma and Liam agree are important?

Speaking

Activity 1: Describe a Person

Work in pairs. Think of a person you know well (a family member, friend, or teacher). Describe them to your partner using relative clauses. Talk about:

- What they look like (appearance)
- What their personality is like
- Why they are important to you

Your partner should ask follow-up questions.

Activity 2: Who Am I?

Work in groups. One student thinks of a famous person but does not say the name. Other students ask yes/no questions to guess who it is. Use relative clauses in your questions:

- "Is it a person who is famous for acting?"
- "Is it someone who has curly hair?"
- "Is it a person who is known for being funny?"

Activity 3: Find Someone Who...

Walk around the classroom and find classmates who match these descriptions. Write their names.

[object Object]undefined

Writing

Task: Describe a Person

Write a description (about 200 words) of a family member or someone you admire. It could be your mother, father, sibling, grandparent, or a person who has inspired you.

Include:

- Who the person is and your relationship with them
- Their appearance
- Their personality (use at least 3–4 personality adjectives)
- A story or example that shows what kind of person they are
- Why you admire them

Tip Box: Describing a Person

- Use relative clauses to add detail: My mother, who is very patient, always listens to me.
- Use a variety of personality adjectives.
- Include both appearance and personality details.
- Give a specific example or memory.
- Organize your paragraph: introduce the person, describe them, explain why they are important.

Pronunciation

Stress in Compound Adjectives

Compound adjectives are made of two words joined together (e.g., hardworking, good-looking, well-known). In compound adjectives, the second part is usually stressed.

Listen and repeat:

[object Object]undefined

Practice:

Read these sentences aloud, stressing the second part of the compound adjective.

- She is a well-known actress.
- My brother is very easygoing.
- He works with a kind-hearted woman.
- They are a good-looking couple.
- She is an open-minded person.

Review

A. Complete with Relative Pronouns

Fill in the blanks with who, which, that, or where.

- That's the woman _____ helped me with my bags.
- This is the café _____ we first met.
- I have a friend _____ speaks five languages.
- The movie _____ we watched last night was boring.
- Do you know the man _____ is standing over there?
- The house _____ they bought is very old.
- She is the kind of person _____ always tells the truth.
- The park _____ I go jogging is beautiful.

B. Combine the Sentences

Combine the two sentences using a relative clause. Omit the pronoun if possible.

- I have a friend. She lives in Canada.
→ I have a friend _____.

2. The book is on the shelf. I bought it yesterday.
→ The book _____.
3. That's the restaurant. We had dinner there last week.
→ That's the restaurant _____.
4. The man is my neighbour. He is wearing a blue shirt.
→ The man _____.
5. She is the woman. I met her at the conference.
→ She is the woman _____.

C. Choose the Correct Word

Choose the correct word to complete the sentence.

1. My best friend / acquaintance is someone I trust completely.
2. A generous / stubborn person shares what they have with others.
3. He doesn't have much hair — he is bald / curly.
4. My sister is very shy / outgoing; she loves meeting new people.
5. A reliable / lazy person always does what they promise.

[object Object]undefined

Grammar: Passive Voice

Present Simple Passive

am / is / are + past participle

[object Object]undefined

Past Simple Passive

was / were + past participle

[object Object]undefined

When to Use the Passive Voice

We use the passive voice when:

1. The agent (doer) is unknown.
 - My phone was stolen. (We don't know who stole it.)
2. The agent is obvious or not important.
 - The suspect was arrested last night. (It is obvious the police did it.)
3. We want to focus on the action or the result, not the person.
 - The new hospital was opened in March. (The hospital is more important than who opened it.)

By + Agent

If we want to mention who did the action, we use by:

- The article was written by a famous journalist.
- The window was broken by the storm.

Common Mistakes

✗ The window was broke.

✓ The window was broken.

Use the past participle, not the past simple.

✗ The news is wrote by journalists.

✓ The news is written by journalists.

Irregular past participles must be learned.

✗ The man was arrested from the police.

✓ The man was arrested by the police.

Use "by" (not "from") to mention the agent.

News Article: Local Bank Robbery Suspect Arrested

A 34-year-old man was arrested yesterday in connection with the robbery of the City Savings Bank on Main Street.

The robbery happened on Tuesday afternoon. According to police reports, the suspect entered the bank at 3:15 PM and demanded money from a teller. He left the building with approximately £5,000. No one was injured during the incident.

The arrest was made after a witness provided valuable information to the police. The witness, a woman who was walking her dog near the bank, saw the suspect running from the building. She noted the licence plate of his car and called the police immediately.

"The evidence was clear," said Detective Sarah Collins. "The suspect was identified from security camera footage, and the stolen money was found at his home."

The suspect is being held at the city prison and will appear in court next Monday. He has been charged with robbery.

The bank manager expressed gratitude for the quick police work. "We are very grateful that this situation was resolved so quickly," she told reporters. "The safety of our staff and customers is our top priority."

This is the third bank robbery in the city this year, but police say the number of such crimes has decreased compared to last year.

Comprehension

A. Choose the correct answer.

- When did the robbery happen?
 - Monday morning
 - Tuesday afternoon
 - Wednesday evening
- How much money was stolen from the bank?
 - Approximately £5,000
 - Approximately £50,000
 - Approximately £500
- Who helped the police find the suspect?
 - The bank manager
 - A witness
 - A security guard
- Where was the stolen money found?
 - In a car
 - At the suspect's home
 - At the bank

B. Rewrite in passive voice.

- The police arrested the suspect. → The suspect _____.
- A witness provided the information. → The information _____.

C. Answer the question.

- Why does the bank manager say she is grateful?

Listening

Listening Script: News Broadcast

News Anchor: Good afternoon. Here is the latest news from around the region.

Story 1 — Weather:

A severe storm is expected to hit the coast tonight. Residents in coastal areas are advised to stay indoors and avoid travelling. Schools in three towns will be closed tomorrow. The storm is expected to arrive around 9 PM.

Story 2 — Local Festival:

The annual Summer Music Festival was held in Greenfield Park this weekend. Over 10,000 people attended the event. Local bands performed on three different stages, and food stalls offered dishes from around the world. The festival was organized by the city council and was enjoyed by people of all ages.

Story 3 — Missing Cat Found:

A cat that went missing six months ago has been found. The cat, named Whiskers, was discovered in a neighbour's garage. The owner said, "I never thought I would see her again." Whiskers was taken to a vet for a check-up and is now back home.

Story 4 — New Hospital:

A new children's hospital was officially opened yesterday by the mayor. The hospital, which was built over three years, will provide free healthcare for children under 18. It is equipped with the latest medical technology.

News Anchor: And that is the news for now. Stay safe and join us for the evening broadcast at 8.

Listening Comprehension

A. Listen and match the story to the topic.

- Story 1 ___ a festival
- Story 2 ___ a hospital
- Story 3 ___ weather
- Story 4 ___ a pet

B. Answer the questions.

- What advice is given to people in coastal areas?
- How many people attended the Summer Music Festival?
- How long was the cat missing?

Speaking

Activity 1: News Reporter Roleplay

Work in pairs. One student is a news reporter, the other is a witness. The reporter asks questions about something the witness saw (e.g., a robbery, an accident, a celebration). Use the passive voice:

Reporter: "What was stolen?"

Witness: "A bag was stolen."

Reporter: "Who was the suspect arrested by?"

Witness: "He was arrested by the police."

Activity 2: Headline Guessing Game

Work in groups. The teacher will give you a news headline. Discuss what you think the article is about. Use the passive voice to make guesses:

- "A new park was opened in the city centre."
- "Three people were rescued from a fire."
- "The missing painting was found."

Activity 3: Tell a News Story

Think of a real news story you heard recently. Tell your partner about it. Answer:

- What happened?
- Where did it happen?
- When did it happen?
- Who was involved?
- Why is it interesting?

Writing

Task: Write a News Report

Write a short news report (150–200 words) about something that happened in your town, city, or school. It can be a real or imagined event — for example, a local festival, a sports event, a crime, a weather event, or a community project.

Include:

- A headline
- An introduction (what happened, where, when)
- Details (who was involved, what was done)
- A quote from someone involved
- A conclusion

Tip Box: Writing a News Report

- Use the passive voice to focus on the action: The event was organized by...
- Use past tense for events that have already happened.
- Use direct quotes: The mayor said, "This is a great day for our city."
- Keep sentences clear and factual.
- A good headline is short and attention-grabbing.

Pronunciation

Past Participle Pronunciation (/d/, /t/, /ɪd/)

Review

A. Active to Passive

Rewrite the sentences in the passive voice. Do not mention the agent.

1. Someone stole my bicycle.
→ My bicycle _____.
2. The police arrested the suspect last night.
→ The suspect _____.
3. People speak Portuguese in Brazil.
→ Portuguese _____.
4. The reporter wrote the article yesterday.
→ The article _____.
5. Someone damaged the school windows.
→ The school windows _____.

B. Choose the Correct Passive Form

Complete the sentences with the correct passive form of the verb in brackets.

A Year of Changes

Looking back, I can hardly believe how much my life has changed in the past twelve months. Last January, I was unhappy with my daily routine. I was waking up late, eating unhealthy food, and spending too much time on social media. I knew something had to change, but I had tried before and failed. This time, I decided to take it one step at a time.

My first goal was to improve my health. I started running every morning. At first, I could only run for five minutes without stopping, but I did not give up. By the end of the first month, I was running for thirty minutes. I also changed my diet. I reduced the amount of sugar I ate and started cooking more meals at home. After six months, I had lost ten kilograms and felt more energetic than ever. If someone had told me a year ago that I would enjoy running, I would not have believed them.

Next, I focused on my career. I had been working in the same job for five years and felt stuck. I was not learning anything new, and I was not happy. I decided to take an online course in digital marketing, which was something I had always been interested in. It was difficult because I was studying after work, but I was determined. After three months, I completed the course and applied for a new position. I got the job! My new role is challenging but rewarding, and I work with people who inspire me. The company I work for now treats its employees well, and good work is always recognized.

My personal life also improved. I started calling my family more often and made an effort to meet new people. I joined a local book club, where I met my best friend, Anna. We share the same taste in books and have great conversations about everything. She is the kind of person who makes you feel better about life.

Of course, not everything was easy. There were days when I wanted to give up, and moments when I felt like nothing was changing. But I learned that progress is not always fast. Small steps, taken every day, can lead to big results. If you are reading this and thinking about making a change, I encourage you to start. You do not have to change everything at once. Just pick one thing and begin.

This year has taught me that change is possible if you are willing to work for it. A year from now, you will be glad you started today.

Comprehension

Listening

Listening Script: Catching Up After a Year

Tom: Rachel! It is so good to see you. How long has it been? A year?

Rachel: Almost exactly a year, Tom. You look great! What have you been doing?

Tom: Thanks! I have made some big changes. I started exercising and eating better. I have lost about 12 kilos since we last met.

Rachel: Wow, that is amazing. What made you decide to change?

Tom: I was feeling tired all the time, and I knew I needed to do something. So I joined a gym, and I have been going three times a week. I also stopped eating fast food.

Rachel: That is so impressive. I should do the same. I have been so busy with work that I have not taken care of myself.

Tom: How is your job going?

Rachel: Actually, I changed jobs too! I was working at that marketing agency, but I was not happy there. Now I work for a non-profit organization that helps children. I love it.

Tom: That is wonderful. So you found something more meaningful.

Rachel: Yes. The people I work with are amazing, and I feel like I am making a difference.

Tom: Have you travelled anywhere this year?

Rachel: I went to Japan in the spring. It was incredible. I had always wanted to go, and I finally did it.

Tom: Japan! I have always wanted to visit. What was your favourite part?

Rachel: Everything, but especially the food. I have never tasted sushi as fresh as the sushi I had there.

Tom: I am going to plan a trip soon. If I had more vacation days, I would travel more.

Rachel: Same here. But you know what? We should plan something together next year.

Tom: That would be great. Let us do it. It has been so good catching up. We should not wait another year.

Rachel: I agree. Let us meet next month!

Listening Comprehension

A. True or False?

1. ___ Tom and Rachel have not seen each other for about a year.
2. ___ Tom has lost weight by exercising and eating better.
3. ___ Rachel still works at the same marketing agency.
4. ___ Rachel visited Japan last spring.
5. ___ Tom says he travels a lot because he has many vacation days.

B. Answer the questions.

1. How often does Tom go to the gym?
2. What kind of organization does Rachel work for now?
3. What was Rachel's favourite thing about Japan?

Speaking

Activity 1: Final Discussion — Your English Journey

In pairs or small groups, discuss these questions:

1. What was the most useful thing you learned in this course?
2. What was the most difficult grammar point for you?
3. What was your favourite unit? Why?
4. How has your English improved since you started?
5. What can you do now that you could not do before?

Activity 2: Goals for the Future

Talk about your future English learning goals. Use "going to" and "will":

- "I am going to watch more English movies."
- "I will try to read one English article every week."
- "I am going to practise speaking with my friends."
- "If I have time, I will take the B1 exam next year."

Activity 3: Advice for New Learners

Imagine you are giving advice to someone who is starting this course. What would you tell them?

Use the second conditional:

- "If I were you, I would practise speaking every day."
- "If you study regularly, you will improve quickly."

Writing

Task: Personal Reflection

Write a personal reflection (200–250 words) about your English learning journey this year. Think about:

- What you have learned (grammar, vocabulary, skills)
- What was difficult for you
- What you enjoyed
- How you have improved
- Your plans for continuing to learn English

Tip Box: Writing a Personal Reflection

- Use the present perfect to talk about your experience: I have learned...
- Use past simple for specific moments: I found the passive voice difficult at first.
- Use going to / will for future plans: I am going to continue studying.
- Use the first conditional: If I practise every day, I will become fluent.
- Use linking words: First of all, In addition, However, Overall.

Pronunciation: Review

This unit reviews key pronunciation features from the course.

1. Sentence Stress

In English sentences, content words (nouns, main verbs, adjectives) are stressed, and grammar words (prepositions, articles) are unstressed.

- I met my friend at the park yesterday.
- She studies English every day.

2. Weak Forms

Many common words have weak forms when they are not stressed:

- I can /kən/ swim. (not /kæn/)
- I would /wəd/ help. (not /wʊd/)
- There is /ðəz/ a problem. (not /ði: ɪz/)

3. Contractions

Contractions are very common in spoken English:

- I am → I'm
- I have → I've
- I would / I had → I'd
- She is / She has → She's
- Do not → Don't
- Will not → Won't

Practice: Read the following sentences aloud, using correct stress and weak forms.

1. I would like to go to the cinema.
2. She has been studying for three hours.
3. We should leave now if we want to catch the bus.
4. They have seen that film twice.
5. I do not know what to do.
